BREAK BALLOT RECORD; RALSTON GAINS

DEADLOCK FAR FROM BROKEN IN 52ND POLL

McAdoo Slumps from 505 to 412 in Ten Ballots Taken on Wednesday

LEADERS SEEM DOOMED

Convention Appears to Be Letting Them "Have Their Run" Before Shifting

BULLETIN

Madison Square Garden, N. Y.—After taking its fifty-fourth ballot and failing to make any further headway in breaking the deadlock, the Democratic National convention adjourned until 8:30 Friday morning.

BULLETIN

Fifty-fourth ballot results: McAdoo, 427; Smith, 339; Davis, 62; Underwood, 40; Ralston, 92; Cox, 54; Glass, 24; Robinson, 43; Ritchie, 17½.

Madison Square Garden, N. Y.—Eolippling all hopes for prolonged balloting save one, the Democratic National convention was still deadlocked as tightly as ever Thursday, with no indication of how soon the break would come.

McAdoo had dropped below the 500 mark again due to the loss of Oklahoma which jumped to Senator Robinson. The Smith people said they were laying back "letting McAdoo have his run" and the McAdoo people said they were waiting for all the Smith votes to be brought out on the floor before disclosing their strategy further.

It looked very much as if both forces were near their top strength. Meanwhile managers of candidates who have been held in reserve as dark horses to break the deadlock were carefully considering the arrival of the moment for them to make their drives.

The Iowa delegation, whose 26 votes have been cast for McAdoo since the start of the balloting agreed informally during the fifty-first ballot to discard the unit rule and scatter its vote as follows:

McAdoo 9, Smith 7½, Ralston 4, Davis of West Virginia 3½, Walsh 1½ and Underwood ½.

On the fifty-second ballot the score for the leaders stood this way: McAdoo 412½, Smith 320½, Davis 53, Ralston 92.

Totals fifty-second ballot: McAdoo 412½, Smith 320½, Davis (W. Va.) 53, Underwood 39½, Cox 54, Glass 24, Ralston 93, Robinson 42, Ritchie 16, Walsh 1, Sausbury 6, Owen 4, Gov. Bryan 6, Battle 20, Totals 1,098.

MAKE HOPEFUL START

Working hard to maintain their advantage, and with hopes of pushing it further the McAdoo men came into the thirteenth session and the ninth day of the convention Thursday with the idea of pushing their vote up to a majority. The Smith people, confident that the McAdoo people could not attain a majority, were waiting, to let the McAdoo forces have "a ride" in convention parlance, before the Smith vote was trotted out in further strength.

Groomers of all the dark horses who think they have chances agreed that their best strategy was to lay back and let the Smith and McAdoo people ride it out before they began their own drives.

Efforts were made during the night to get Virginia and Arkansas to join the McAdoo standards while the McAdoo managers had the advantage of holding Missouri, Mississippi and Oklahoma.

The negotiations were unsuccessful. Virginia was not willing to leave Senator Glass until satisfied they could join a winner: Arkansas was solid for Senator Robinson but it developed that the Arkansas delegation was not ready to join someone else. Mississippi, Missouri and Oklahoma had been held in the McAdoo column by slender margins under the unit rule.

Thursday's session was called to start at 10 o'clock and Chairman Walsh had announced balloting would begin promptly at that hour. It did not, however, and the delegate spaces were sparsely settled when the hour came.

NEARS BALLOT RECORD

At the outset the convention was within 2 ballots of the 44-ballot record at San Francisco and within four of the 46-ballot record at Baltimore which so far holds the ribbon for all Democratic convention history with the exception of the convention of 1880 which nominated Douglas by taking 67 ballots.

On the forty-third ballot, Oklahoma with her 20 votes left McAdoo and went for Senator Robinson of Arkansas.

Totals forty-third ballot: McAdoo 483 4-10, Smith 319 1-10, Davis (W. Va.) 7-1, Underwood 40, Cox

Georgia Averse To U.S. Hand In Juvenile Labor

By Associated Press
Atlanta, Ga.—By a vote of 34 to 0 the state senate Thursday adopted by substitute a house resolution providing for the rejection of the twentieth amendment to the constitution of the United States which would give Congress the power to regulate and prohibit employment of all persons under 18 years of age.

RALSTON BOOM GIVEN LIFE BY TOM TAGGART

Indiana Senator's Efforts to Make Him Deadlock Breaker Brings More Votes

Madison Square Garden, New York—Thomas Taggart launched Thursday his long heralded offensive for the nomination of Ralston of Indiana by the Democratic national convention.

As the long succession of ballots approached the half century mark the Indiana leader began to bring from under cover the votes he has been holding out until he was convinced the leaders had been eliminated.

The first result was that on the forty-ninth ballot Ralston further crippled the McAdoo strength by taking the solid twenty votes of Mississippi.

The Indiana senator also picked up five in Illinois and one in Minnesota, making his total 57 in place of the 31 given him on a long string of preceding ballots.

HOPE FOR BREAK
Taggart said he expected to raise the boom for all it was worth, hoping his man would prove the candidate on which the tightly deadlocked convention could unite as a compromise. At first progress was slow but Taggart did not appear to be discouraged. The defection of Mississippi, following that of Oklahoma which earlier in the balloting had swung over to Senator Robinson of Arkansas, appeared to have materially crippled the McAdoo forces, who were fighting for a majority in the hope that they could put over their plan by abolishing the two-thirds rule. On the 49 ballot the McAdoo total which had mounted above 500 Wednesday night had fallen to 461½.

Meanwhile Gov. Smith was holding his own with 327½ votes, and most of the other candidates were running along as usual except for the gain to Robinson resulting in Oklahoma's departure from the McAdoo camps.

McADOO BUSY

While the voting went on William G. McAdoo held several conferences with his advisers and carefully outlined a strategy which he still insisted would result in his nomination. He told his friends efforts should be made to make the Smith forces disclose their strength and, while he knew that the opposition had little reservoirs of strength here and there among the delegates, when the Smith showed down came it would result in a reaction.

There also were little informal confabs in the convention jobbers among the various leaders looking to a compromise. In this connection there was talk of Ralston and Cummings as a ticket, while others wanted Walsh and Cummings. Friends of Robinson were pressing his claims in these conferences.

On the fifty-first ballot Nebraska took one from Robinson and gave it to McAdoo, and North Carolina took two from McAdoo, giving one to Ralston and a half each to Underwood and Davis of West Virginia, and most of the other delegates at large, still voted for Robinson, but a number of others, including most of the women delegates were for Ralston.

The final vote was Robinson 10, Ralston 9, with 1 absent. Under the unit rule the 20 votes were cast for Robinson.

EX-GOVERNOR UPHAM'S BURIAL OCCURS SATURDAY

Marshallfield—The last rites for former Governor William H. Upham, who died here Wednesday after an illness of six weeks, will be held at the beautiful Upham residence at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. The funeral service will be simple and the Rev. Oscar Lee Elmer of the Presbyterian church of this city will be in charge. Six nephews of the decedent have been selected as bearers.

'DUMMY' DELEGATE IS DISCOVERED IN GEORGIA SECTION

Man Falsely Wearing Badge Is Stopped from Activities in Convention

Madison Square Garden, N. Y.—A man who said he was E. H. Sullivan of Atlanta, Ga., who has been sitting in the Georgia delegation with the badge and credential of Miller Bell of Milledgeville, Ga. was questioned at length Tuesday by the sergeant-at-arms of the convention. Sullivan's activities on the floor were so much more marked than those of others that he was taken in for examination. It developed that the badge and credentials were not his, and that he had no official standing in the convention. He explained that he was "working for McAdoo."

After officials had talked at length with Sullivan he was permitted to return to the Georgia delegation as a guest, but was warned against interfering with the voting. He said that he had not done so to date.

Rumors were circulated during the day that delegates were being enticed away from their seats and dummies were replacing them, but nothing was found to confirm the rumors.

CHARGE INSURANCE FIRM AIDS HIRST

Smith Writes Letter to Governor Showing Scheme Based on Reinsurance Issue

Madison—Charges that a Madison insurance firm is circulating petitions over the state in support of A. R. Hirst, former state highway engineer, for the governorship because of refusal of the insurance department to make reinsurance contracts on the state fire fund, are made in a letter addressed Thursday by W. Stanley Smith, insurance commissioner, to Gov. Blaine.

According to Commissioner Smith's letter, the Madison firm until a year ago held reinsurance contracts which during recent years had paid it $148,340 in premiums. These contracts have been cancelled, it is stated, and the department has refused to make reinsurance contracts with any firms, relying upon the state treasury for sufficient backing.

Commissioner Smith further declared that the action of the firm is a political movement in an effort to return the former reinsurance program.

Accompanying Mr. Smith's letter is a copy of a letter which he claims is being sent to insurance agencies throughout the state. It is addressed to "insurance friends" and urges support of Mr. Hirst in the coming campaign.

Ring Hopes Convention Will End So He Can Change Shirts

BY KING W. LARDNER

New York—I don't like to get personal at this stage of what I have nicknamed the game, but a good many people have been criticizing my appearance in the last two or three days. I don't speak for Mr. D. who is beyond criticism, but what I refer to is my clothing which I will admit is not beyond criticism. If the boys would hurry and nominate somebody or anybody I would go home and get myself dressed up decent and parade through the Garden and show the visiting Elks that I ain't always as deshabille as I may be seemed.

Now for one thing in regards to my hosiery. There is something about my ft. that makes everybody look at them and I want to exclaim that a brother-in-law of mine in a complimentary spirit give me a pair of size 10 socks for last Xmas and my usual size is No. 11, but somehow the two pairs got mixed up in the wash and that is why my two ft. don't act like they was on speaking terms. In regards to my shirt I won't defend myself only to say that a man can't afford buying a new shirt every day of a Democratic convention and will go a step farther and state that the one that has been keeping company with me for the past four days ain't no more familiar looking than the shirts I have seen lately on certain delegates. I could name, but I won't.

"SHAKE WITH GILDA"
So much for the personal element. But I would like to say that if nominated and elected I will try and get better laundry service than you can by commuting between Great Neck and the Garden. Speaking about Garden, after they have held numerous prizes tonight and a circus and then this convention in game, why a rose by any other name would smell as sweet. Wednesday the boys that was afflicted with Kilgus eyes on acct of the blinding lights got more and more afflicted when they asked for the X-ray light vote. Some gent got up and cast a vote for Mr. D. and the well known filing station, Ann Pennington was another candidate named and I would state at this juncture that she can have my vote. But my advice to the convention would be to have one of the delegates from Hawaii start a landslide in the direction of Gilda Gray and when the Republicans spring their slogan, "Keep Coolidge," why the Democrats could retort with "Shake With Gilda."

KEEPING COOLIDGE COOL
Speaking about Mr. Coolidge, the news was given out that July 20 had been set aside as the date on which to notify him that he had been nominated for president at Cleveland. The boys figure that the shock might upset him if he was notified sooner than that but still at the same time it seems to me like it was a kind of scheme to keep him in doubt all this while.

The wise boys was telling me along about supper time that it might just wind up Wednesday night, but they said the same thing Monday and it don't look to me like they was any hope and I am sorry to be boring everybody with this kind of writin' but I have got to get even with some body and my only suggestion is that they hold the next Democratic convention by souvenir post cards which would give everybody a chance to stay home and change their shirts once in a while.

Tenacity Of Favorite Son Voting Is Hidden Reason For Deadlock

Twenty More Ballots May Be Necessary Before Convention Can Nominate a Candidate for Democratic Presidency.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1924 by Post Pub. Co.

Madison Square Garden, New York—The endurance of the delegates to the Democratic national convention knows no bounds. Most of them are so determined upon their own candidates that the convention will probably sit over July 4 and a record number of ballots will be taken.

Little change was anticipated for Thursday's voting though here and there the McAdoo camp expected defections. Oklahoma started the ball rolling by voting for Senator Robinson of Arkansas. Other states are inclined to compliment Robinson too, and in the parlance of the convention, after Robinson has had his "ride" there will be a tendency to get behind Senator Ralston of Indiana to see what strength he may develop. These tactics of giving favorite sons a chance are destined to bring down the two leading candidates, but the principal effort is directed against McAdoo states.

Inasmuch as Oklahoma left the fold to vote for former Senator Owen only to come back to McAdoo Wednesday night, the supporters of the former secretary of the treasury were not in the least perturbed Thursday. "We can have Oklahoma back whenever we need their 20 votes," said Thomas B. Love, the McAdoo leader from Texas. Certainly the fluctuations of Missouri and Oklahoma have not had the significance they would otherwise if the vote were permanently kept in one place.

ROCKWELL WON'T COMPROMISE
Talk of a conference of representatives of the leading candidates still continues but Judge David Rockwell, the McAdoo manager, said Thursday he would enter a conference only if McAdoo were given the same proportion of voting strength in such a council as he had delegates in the convention itself. This is only another way of saying that Rockwell would not compromise but would

Only One More Record To Break With Balloting

Previous high records in Democratic national conventions included only one which the present convention has not yet shattered. They were:

1852—General Franklin Pierce of New Hampshire, named on forty-ninth ballot at Baltimore.

1860—Senator Stephen A. Douglas of Illinois chosen on fifty-ninth ballot at Baltimore.

1912—Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey nominated on forty-sixth ballot at Baltimore.

1916—Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio selected on forty-fourth ballot at San Francisco.

The highest ballot record of the Republicans was in 1862 when the party was called Whig, and General Winfield Scott was named on the fifty-third ballot.

SCOFF AT PLAN TO WITHDRAW LEADERS

That Means of Ending Democratic Deadlock Meets With Slight Favor

By Associated Press

Madison Square Garden, New York—Several members of the Democratic national committee were discussing on the floor of the convention a suggestion that the committee seek to end the deadlock by pressing for the simultaneous withdrawal of both Smith and McAdoo.

"There still is some question whether the time is ripe for such a move," said Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy when asked about it. Cordell Hull, chairman of the committee thought the suggestion had merit. Some members of the committee received the suggestion favorably and leaders outside of the committee expressed a willingness to confer on the question.

Apparently something developed to blast the idea after it got under discussion for casting about on it Chairman Hull said it "seemed unreasonable," and Franklin D. Roosevelt, manager for Governor Smith said "Pooh, Pooh."

TAYLOR-CO BOY WINS FARM POSTER CONTEST

By Associated Press

Madison—Harry Allman, 12-year-old Taylor-co boy, is winner in the statewide farm institute poster contest conducted by the Wisconsin college of agriculture, according to announcement Thursday by the college.

Other winners announced, ranking in order named, follow: Gertrude Olson, Buffalo co.; Florence Owens, Dane co.; Mildred Kittleson, Winnebago co.; Henrietta Niles, Dane co.; Albert Frye, Rusk co.; Leona Zimmerman, Sauk co.; Mabel Panosh, Kewaunee co.; and Nell A. Knapp, Chippewa co.

This is the third year that the college had conducted the farm poster contest. Boys and girls of grade schools in towns where farmers' institutes were held were eligible to the contest. One hundred dollars in prizes was awarded to the various winners.

MADISON WOMAN HEADS STATE BEAUTY EXPERTS

Madison—Mrs. Mabel Scott, Madison, was elected president of the Wisconsin Beauty Culturists and Hair Dressers association at the association's annual convention here Wednesday. Other officers elected were: Miss M. Carrigan, Eau Claire, vice president; Rose Bastick, Madison, secretary; and Mrs. Mathilda Hicks, Madison, treasurer.

OSHKOSH IS MECCA FOR WITNESSES OF POWER BOAT RACES

Independence Day Expected to Draw Record Throng for Holiday Events

Oshkosh—By rail and auto, owners of racing boats, racing officials, association officers and crowds of speed fans poured into Oshkosh Wednesday and Thursday for the big homecoming celebration and the annual regatta of the Mississippi Valley Power Boat association. The latter event will be the largest and most elaborately staged of any regatta held by the association, officials say, and about 40 of the fastest hydroplane motorboats in the world will be in competition in various classes. Among those to handle the boats are drivers and mechanics known throughout the motorboat world for their daredevil work on the water race courses. A number of them belong to the organization known as the Hydro Hell Divers union, eligibility being based on records of having at least one spill from a motorboat in a race. Others here for the races represent the Regatta Circuit Riders club and a large party from New York is here as representatives of that organization.

Each afternoon for the three days of July 3, 4 and 5, there will be free acts before a huge grandstand erected on the lake front and which seats 9,000.

Then follows series of races from 2 o'clock to about 5:30 in which world records will probably be shattered. Each evening at 8 o'clock in front of the stand there will be free acts, hand concerts and fireworks. The city is gayly decorated and hotels and every available space are filled with visitors.

Thursday afternoon the first race over this lake in this country in the one and one-half liter class will be a feature and one of the entries, Miss Oshkosh, built at Racine, will be given away during the Regatta.

MA'COY WILL HEAD 32ND DIVISION

Madison—Brig. Gen. Robert Bruce McCoy, Sparta, is to be promoted soon to the command of the thirty-second division of the national guard, comprised of Michigan and Wisconsin units, it was announced today by Adj. Gen. Ralph M. Imme.

The announcement followed a conference in which Adj. Gen. John S. Bersey, Michigan, consented to the proposal of Gen. Imme that Gen. McCoy be given this post, on condition that a Michigan officer fill his place when Gen. McCoy decided to retire.

AWAIT FINAL ACTION

The agreement has gone to Washington for approval and the issuance of the commission.

PEOPLE SAVE $400,000 BY PHONE TAX REPEAL

Milwaukee—Federal taxes on long distance telephone messages disappeared Wednesday night when the law passed by the recent congress became effective. Estimates of the Wisconsin Public Utilities bureau here place the annual saving to Wisconsin residents as the result of the repeal at $400,000.

The federal tax amounted to five cents on each call for which a charge ranging from 14 to 50 cents was made, and 10 cents on each call on excess of 50 cents.

NO PAPER TOMORROW

Following its usual custom, the Post-Crescent will suspend publication on July 4, Independence day.

BOB WAITS ON DEMOCRATS TO TELL HIS PLANS

Badger Senator Silent on Candidacy Until Democrats Nominate

By Associated Press

Washington—Senator LaFollette intends to hold his peace with reference to his plans to run for president until a Democratic candidate has been selected in New York. It was said Thursday by a group of his supporters who held a conference here.

The Cleveland convention which is to name him will meet Friday, but it was suggested here that it might mark time, if necessary, to await the Wisconsin senator's pronouncement which will be made public when it is received in Cleveland.

A committee representing organizations endeavoring to permit the use of the ticket with Senator LaFollette at its head will receive at appropriate gathering in the senator's home, a letter of support which he will transmit to the convention.

Senator LaFollette's supporters here were said to be anxious that he be nominated at Cleveland Friday but this course, it was added, might be upset by the senator's desire to hold off until completion of the Democratic program.

WANT LAFOLLETTE ANSWER
Cleveland, O.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin Thursday formally asked to permit the use of the name as a presidential candidate by the national committee of the conference Friday. A sub-committee drew up a message to the senator which was submitted to the full committee for approval and then dispatched to Washington.

A favorable reply is confidently expected by the leaders of the Cleveland gathering. They said it probably would be brought by messenger from the national capital or entrusted to some delegate to the convention so that it might be given to the convention late Friday.

A big influx of delegates was expected Thursday among these were William Green, secretary of the United Mine Workers of America. While accredited as a delegate and entitled to a seat in the convention he was given no power to bind his organization, his instructions being to report back on the results achieved.

SOCIALISTS ATTEND

Many Socialists who will take part in the national convention of that party opening July 6, also were here in the role of observers, although their organization is represented as an official unit of the conference.

Morris Hillquit, a member of the national committee of the Socialists is also a member of the national committee of progressive conference committee.

Launching of the LaFollette candidacy is the firm determination of every delegate to the conference who has thus far announced himself. They expect unanimously that the old parties have failed to consider the wage workers, farmers, and men generally, and independent manufacturers and bankers and that the only hope of those not allied with "the interests" is to take independent political action.

One of the concrete examples of this feeling may be a visit from a committee from the American Federation of Labor. If this representation comes it will tell the conference how little union labor has received from Republican and Democratic organizations in the past and that there is no minimum of promise to it in the platforms for 1924.

DEMAND STATEMENTS FROM STATE, NATIONAL BANKS

By Associated Press

Washington—The comptroller of the currency Thursday issued a call for the condition of all national banks at the close of business on Monday June 30.

STATE BANK CALL

Madison—Call for a financial statement and the condition of all state banks in Wisconsin was issued Thursday by Commissioner of Banking Dwight T. Parker, simultaneously with the national bank call.

M'ADOO VOTES CLIMB TO 505 IN FORTIETH

Smith Leaders Were Believed to Be Holding Votes in Check for Showing

SIX STRONG CONTENDERS

All Records for Balloting in Conventions Expected to Be Broken

By Associated Press

New York—The tightly deadlocked Democratic national convention set out Thursday with a new balloting record only four runs up the steep and thus far steady ladder it has been climbing since Monday in search of a presidential nominee.

The 42 ballots taken prior to Thursday's session have served only to place increasing emphasis on the whip hand held over the other's chances by each of the contending leaders neither of whom has displayed any sign of discouragement. In the McAdoo camp, more reserves were claimed Thursday despite the drive made Wednesday, and it was generally conceded that the Smith leaders had much strength in storage under other names.

Called to begin their forty-third ballot at 10 A. M. eastern daylight savings time, the delegates still had before them a field of 13 names, with William G. McAdoo, Alfred E. Smith, John W. Davis, James M. Cox, Senator Underwood, and Senator Ralston the ranking six in the relative number of votes received on the forty-second test late Wednesday night. The record of 44 ballots at San Francisco in 1920 was only one step up, and that of 46 at Baltimore in 1912 lay just beyond.

The McAdoo drive began to show results on the thirty-fourth ballot when, after Tuesday's slump, his total began the climb that took it to 505 on the fortieth chiefly at the expense of the Davis column. He had 503.4 when the session adjourned for the night after the forty-second ballot which was in accord with his manager's desire to put him over the 500-mark, and then give the delegates a chance to think it over.

The Smith leaders, meanwhile, held their reserves in check for service later. Starting with 325 on the thirty-first—one less than he had on the fortieth—his total stood at 318.5 on the forty-second. McAdoo workers admitted that a number of votes merely awaited the call from the Smith captains but predicted his total would not pass 470 and said they were ready to force him to extend all of his strength before they called out the last of their own reserves.

DRAMA WILL AID RELIGIOUS WORK

By Associated Press

Madison—Drama cannot be surpassed as a community welding influence, the Rev. Father William P. McDermott of Evansville, declared before the national inter-church conference here Wednesday night. The Rev. Mr. McDermott said dramatic activities can do much to eliminate the dividing factors which hamper religious work.

Dramatics staged by the church need not be of a religious character, he said. The main requirement is that the play be clean, wholesome and worth while.

Drama has always been and adjunct to religion," the Rev. Mr. McDermott stated. "It was one of the earliest forms of religious activity. Today it can be effectively used in presenting church history to the community, as an aid to holding young people and an attraction in bringing people to church."

was said they were not convicted.

The most important matter to be considered at the annual school meeting next Monday evening will be the unionizing of the public schools. The plan is to do away with the present antiquated system of school districts for a union system under a general head. Because of the construction of the new junior high schools this plan is being advocated at this time.

LEGION WILL AID VETERANS OBTAIN SOLDIERS' BONUS

Oney Johnston Post Prepares to Open Bonus Office Saturday Afternoon

World war veterans eligible to receive the bonus voted them by congress will be given expert assistance in filling their applications when Oney Johnston post of the American legion opens its bonus headquarters Saturday afternoon in the old Commercial National bank building, purchased by Irving Zuelke from the Patten estate.

Leo Markle will be in charge of the office. He has secured a quantity of bonus application blanks and has all the information necessary for advising applicants.

MUST HAVE DISCHARGE

World war veterans who call at the headquarters are advised to take their honorable discharges from the service with them. They also must know the date on which they embarked for Europe and the date on which they returned. This is necessary to determine the extra compensation due for overseas service.

Advice on the bonus will be given to all World war veterans, regardless of their membership in the union. The service is not restricted to veterans living in Appleton but is free to servicemen living anywhere in the county or in the vicinity.

A special trip will be made by legion officers to Dale and to Hortonville to assist veterans in those villages to prepare their applications.

The office will be open Saturday afternoon. Office hours will be every afternoon from 1 to 5 o'clock and from 7 to 9:30 in the evening.

SCHAEFER COW MAKES PRODUCTION RECORD

Johanna Pontiac Piebe de Kol, 4th, a pure bred Holstein cow owned by R. J. Schaefer, has won a place in the dairy hall of fame. This four year old bovine produced 20,940.3 pounds of milk containing 702.32 pounds of butterfat, equivalent to $81.02 pounds of butter, in 365 days, according to an announcement by the advanced registry department of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

A total of 109,693 animals have been admitted to the advanced registry of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. Of this number 7,035 were bulls. During the past testing year 5,653 cows have been entered.

Seattle's Woman Mayor Tried To "Clean Up" Police Force

Seattle.—Seattle knows something about "petticoat government" now.

It has just emerged from a few hectic days of it.

But in those few days the woman "left behind" turned things topsyturvy around the city hall.

Within 24 hours she discharged two chiefs of police.

When Dr. Edwin J. Brown, Seattle's mayor, started for the Democratic National Convention in New York, he turned his office over to Mrs. Henry Landes, president of the city council.

It would have been far better from his standpoint, for him to have included her in his traveling party. For the first thing she did, after Brown was well on his way east, was to dismiss Chief of Police William B. Severyns for "refusal to obey orders."

She named Inspector J. T. Mason acting chief. Then she fired him, too, for failing to co-operate with her in a "cleanup" of the city.

She proclaimed herself in absolute control of the department and selected Captain C. G. Bannick, in charge of an outlying precinct, as her aide.

The row with Chief Severyns began when he refused to remove 100 patrolmen the acting mayor had called worthless.

Mrs. Landes had caustically mentioned the frequency in which day light robberies were occurring. She accused the police of either "collusion with criminals or hopeless inefficiency."

But her administration was brief. Mayor Brown heard about it.

Announcing he intended to reappoint Severyns, he packed up his satchels and headed home forthwith.

Mrs. Landes is the wife of the dean of the school of science of the University of Washington. She is a sister-in-law of David Starr Jordan, chancellor emeritus of Leland Stanford University.

She was elected to the council two years ago.

MAYOR WANTS TO PAVE APPROACH TO CHERRY-ST BRIDGE

Suggests to Council That Pavement Be Done to Avoid Trouble Next Year

Several matters that have been pending before the common council were considered at the meeting of the council Wednesday night after the clerk's desk was cleared of routine business. Mayor Goodland thought it was time the council selected a weed commissioner and when informed it was an appointive office he named City Engineer R. M. Connelly as such official. The matter of exchanging a narrow strip of land with the Riverside Fibre company in the vicinity of the company's mill was referred to former City Attorney Theodore Berg who was familiar with the preliminary proceedings.

In order not to interrupt travel on Cherry-st next summer, Mayor Goodland suggested it would be a good thing to pave Cherry-st from the north end of the bridge to Second st this fall. The suggestion was referred to the board of public works. Alderman Hasemann suggested the purchasing of the light fixtures for the bridge before it is completed and that lights be provided for both sides of the structure. His suggestion was referred to the street lighting committee.

Alderman Hanson called attention to the stagnant water near the east end of Washington st and to the necessity of providing relief for the residents in that part of the city. He said the cost of having a steam shovel or sewer digger do the necessary excavating was estimated at $1,200 and even then much of it would have to be done by tunneling. City Engineer Donnelly thought it would be cheaper to fill in the depression up to a level where the water would drain into the sewer. He was instructed to take levels and report to the council.

Another matter to which Alderman Hanson called attention was street numbers. He said the street signs will be here soon and he thought the city ought to buy the street numbers so they would be uniform and furnish them to the property owners. The suggestion was favorably received by several aldermen.

Alderman Steinhilber called attention to the condition of the buffer pit at John-st bridge, claiming it was in need of immediate repairs. He said he had knowledge that government officials were about to take up the matter with the city. The city engineer was instructed to make an investigation.

Attorney Mark Cathin appeared before the council in behalf of Herrmann Motor company in regard to a curb gasoline pump ordinance which he alleged was not being enforced. His company purchased a curb pump before the ordinance was passed and in view of that fact he thought it ought to be permitted to install it.

THE POLICY OF ECONOMY

The chief recommendation of the Coolidge administration to the confidence and support of the people is its determined effort to bring about economy in federal government. The record in this respect is altogether admirable and Mr. Coolidge's address before the business organization of the government this week laid special emphasis on a continuance of the program of retrenchment. A reduction in the national debt by approximately $2,000,000,000 has been brought about, which is a saving in the annual interest charge of about $120,000,000. The president outlined a plan for bringing about further reductions in the administrative expenditures of $85,000,000. That he is thoroughly in earnest in his drive for economy was shown by the courage he displayed in vetoing two bills at the last sitting of congress, one providing for the bonus and the other for an increase in pensions to Civil war veterans.

In the last eight years American government has cost the people, in round figures, $100,000,000,000. This stupendous sum is practically one-third of our present estimated national wealth. This vast outlay included the cost of prosecuting the war, but after excluding this heavy and necessary obligation the fact remains that the country in recent years has indulged in a great spending spree. The extravagant use of public moneys has extended into state and local government until taxation has become a burden to commerce, industry and business, and to the individual. Undoubtedly this in the background is one of the causes of discontent that has found marked expression throughout the country. In addition, it has furnished a basis for agitators and radicals to stir up distrust of government and of public officials. It is not only a plausible but a meritorious indictment of American government.

The unfortunate and disturbing thing about it is that it leads unthinking persons into condemnation of our institutions and form of government. Nothing that the president can do will help to restore public confidence in Washington and in the value of our political system so much as the restoration of genuine economy and efficiency in public administration and public service. We think this is of greater importance than all of the so-called issues between the major parties, most of which, as a matter of fact, are unreal and arbitrary and set up primarily to get votes.

HERRIOT'S FOREIGN POLICY

Much significance attaches to the foreign policy of the new French premier, Herriot, in his instructions to General Degoutte, commander of the Franco-Belgian forces occupying the Ruhr, to permit with few exceptions the return to industrial regions of all Germans expelled since the beginning of occupation in January of last year. It is said that the new order will permit approximately 210,000 persons to return to their homes. M. Herriot had previously authorized the return of 60,000 Germans expelled from the Rhineland territory exclusive of the Ruhr. It is further announced that the sentences of all Germans condemned to prisons for taking part in the passive resistance program without criminal violence will be suspended, and that persons convicted for crimes of violence will have their cases reviewed for the purpose of exercising the largest measure of clemency.

The reactionaries in France have severely criticized Premier Herriot for throwing the Ruhr open to the exiles, claiming that he should have reserved this step as a card to play against Germany in the final reparations agreement. Theoretically there may be something to support this contention, but on the other hand it may be true that it is more effective play as calculated to allay the misunderstanding between Germany and France and to put Germany in a state of reconciliation to the obligation she will be required to undertake by the Dawes commission plan. It at any rate illustrates the important difference in attitude between the Poincare administration and that of his successor. Generosity of treatment, broadness in diplomacy and appeal to the human instinct of men generally register the greater gains in the long run.

France has grimly and tenaciously held to her purpose to collect reparations from Germany. So long as that was her only purpose, the world was with her. Unfortunately, the policy of Poincare created a grave suspicion that reparations were not the end France really sought, but rather the impoverishment of Germany and her subjugation economically. The political control of Poincare by the great industrialists of France was generally admitted. That was the chief basis for the charge of French militarism, aside from the military machine itself. It seems clear that M. Herriot is to depart from this policy and that he is to make an appeal for German rapprochement that will rest on solid foundations. A spirit of give and take, or mutual accommodation, between the two nations is needed. It can come only out of a spirit of forbearance, on the part of France, where forbearance is justified, and of good faith and honest discharge of her just obligations by Germany. M. Herriot, if he can preserve his support in parliament, gives good indication of promoting this relationship.

NEW WORLD AS OLD WORLD

The expedition headed by Dr. Sylvanus G. Morley, and known as the Morley expedition, has left New Orleans for Yucatan, Mexico, which is believed to be one of the world's richest archaeological treasuretroves. Dr. Morley expects to unearth buried cities, with stores of ancient art and gold, and, in particular to discover traces of previous states to civilization in America. Evidence already found give substantial proof that North, South and Central America were inhabited scores of centuries ago. At different times settlements were founded by adventurers from Asia and from Europe, and it is possible that Africa, in the distant past, penetrated into America in much the same manner.

There seem to have been two land passages from Asia to America, and there may have been one in the north from Europe. It is known to a reasonable certainty that seafarers of nomadic European races visited America, and that they returned home and arranged for small colonizing expeditions. The principal migration, however, was from Asia over the northern and southern land passages.

Scientists know to a certainty that there is a vast wealth of human history buried in Central America under the drift of centuries of change. Old cities, with temples and palaces, have been uncovered. Undoubtedly, there are many more. Central America appears to have been the last place in which ancient civilization existed in this New World.

It is among the possibilities that explorers some day may run across evidences of previous settlement on a pretentious scale in parts of the United States. Civilization lies buried under civilization in Europe and Asia where mankind has carried on commerce without abatement. It may be so on this continent. Hardships may have driven the first settlers in North, Central and South America back to their distant home. Records of attempts at permanent settlement on this continent will be found some time in the earth in the Americas and in the hieroglyphics of Asiatic races.

SOME USE FOR THE BUGS IN GRANDFATHER'S CHEST

Chronic bronchitis, recurring winter cough, bronchorrhea, bronchiectasis, emphysema—in other words why does grandfather cough and wheeze? Mainly because he has bugs in his chest. And why do the bugs get into grandfather's chest? Surely they don't pick on grandfather just because his chest is a little old and worn and crawl in to winter there without his consent. No. These "bugs" are as incapable of such conduct as are the dahlias and begonias in grandmother's conservatory. The microbes concerned are neither animals nor plants, but organisms sharing the attributes of both forms of life. There is just one serious objection to calling disease germs "bugs"—it conveys a suggestion of active movement or travel even of "hurling" about in quest of prey. Of course germs never do anything like that—outside of the romantic imagination of the adolescent. Germs never go anywhere unless they are carried there by some agency intentionally or accidentally. So far as the respiratory infections are concerned the carrier of the germs is usually human. But that's another story. Grandfather has bugs in his chest, however they got there, and the question before the house is, can we persuade some of the bugs to work for grandfather. Sure when the germs are dead. These bugs are like Indians in that respect—good if dead. It would be fine for grandfather if we could make good germs of his entire chest cavity at all. Even good germs have satisfied us that you can't kill off a considerable share of the bugs in grandfather's chest without damaging grandfather beyond repair, not with any known antiseptic or germicide, at any rate. So we have to try the next best thing, that is, to raise grandfather's specific resisting power against the particular germs which are causing his bronchitis. In other words, we resort to a homeopathic principle, bacterin treatment. Sometimes called bacterial vaccines, a treatment which consists in administering by injection under the skin or into muscles at intervals of measured numbers of the killed bodies of the germ which the bacteriologists find responsible for the bronchitis. A hair of the dog that bites grandfather, you see.

The bacterin used in such a case must be autogenous, that is, it must be prepared by the bacteriologist from the very strains of germs which predominate in the cultures made from the sputum, for the use of ready made "stock" bacterins would probably only arouse grandfather's resistance to strains of germs or bugs he hasn't got in his chest at all. Even pneumonia, the germs which cause pneumonia, many cases of bronchitis and other respiratory infection, have their cliques and clans and the different cliques have different specificity and demand specific antidotes. And then the common associated microbes, the streptococci and the staphylococci, require specific attention, each after its kind, so that an autogenous bacterin is the only kind worth while.

This bacterin or "vaccine" treatment has brought about some remarkable improvement in certain cases and no apparent benefit at all in others. For the subject of chronic bronchitis who can have the necessary medical care, the bacterin treatment at least offers a fair prospect of benefit and is well worth the trial.

Well, the next number on the program is the Fourth of July, and Appleton has no program.

They say we have a sane Fourth now, but the inmates over at the asylum won't believe it.

The Fourth of July celebration in Little Old New York ought to be tame compared with the demonstrations they have had in the convention.

More fireless fireworks are scheduled to be fired at another convention to start tomorrow in Cleveland.

Friday we intend to celebrate our own Independence day, for the column will not go to press on that day.

But it's only for one day, for Saturday will find Little Robb back on the job and as dependent as ever.

"That grand and glorious feeling" immortalized by Briggs probably was invented during a Fourth of July ecstasy.

But it will be a long, long day before fire water will be disqualifed as a permanent fixture for Fourth of July celebrations.

The boss has issued the ultimatum that if anybody fails to show up sober on Saturday he'll shoot a little fireworks himself.

We earnestly advise Independence day astronomers not to gaze upon the moon while it is white.

We now have national liberty, freedom of conscience, freedom of speech and freedom of the press. All we still lack, says Red Nose Joe, is personal liberty.

Maybe after another war or two, or a few more presidential campaigns, we may be able to set right up to the bar, and say, "Give me a glass of personal liberty."

Some of the old timers, however, will need a good many emancipations to make them feel their personal liberty.

Liberty must be awful cheap if it can be bought at the news stands at five cents a throw.

World's News

Told In Brief,
Simple Style

The week-end storm crowded the Democratic convention pretty much off the front pages, which makes a difference in politics.

Political booms thrive on publicity, just as actors thrive on applause. Without applause actors can't do their best work. Without publicity political booms fizzle out.

True, politics still will be going strong long after the storm's forgotten, but the convention is a "spot event."

The kind of politicians who needed pages of newspaper space to boost their candidacies in New York probably will prove to have suffered by the storm. Those who work best secretly probably will prove to have profited.

Some horses run best on a fast track; some in the mud. Even so in politics.

NEEDS PUBLICITY

The Conference for Progressive Political Action is one of the movements which needs publicity to get best results, and its leaders have not shown much ability in getting advanced advertising for their Cleveland meeting, July 4.

They not only haven't press agented it well; news of it actually has been hard to get.

Senator La Follette, needless to say, has the experience to know that it pays a public man and his policies to be favorably talked about; that sometimes it even pays them to be abused. But among his supporters are a good many who appear positively to shrink from publicity either for themselves or for progressive aims.

They're not going to get ahead as they should if they stick to this attitude.

NEITHER PLATFORM

Progressive sentiment seems practically unanimous that the Republican platform is out-and-out reactionary and the Democratic platform a straddle on most major issues. This, from all accounts, makes it certain the Progressives will put an independent presidential candidate in the field, on an independent platform of their own. Nobody suggests any candidate but Senator La Follette—unless he declines to run. It isn't likely he WILL decline, however. Most Progressive talk is to the effect that since La Follette is a Progressive Republican, the best running mate for him will be a Progressive Democrat.

INDEPENDENTS

The average voter unquestionably will call the independent a Third Party ticket, but officially it won't be so—it will just be independent. The Republicans who support it will be independent or insurgent Republicans; the Democrats will be independent or insurgent Democrats.

This is a dreadful irritation to the regulars in both old parties. They would like to read the insurgents out of their organizations, but the latter have control of the machinery in their various states and won't let go. They can be denounced but they won't be thrown out.

The insurgents, during the last session of Congress, worked rather with the Democrats than the Republicans, but that was only because the Republicans were running the

Respect for the Flag

Editor Post-Crescent—In every meeting place today citizens are discussing the problem of making Americans, but how many of these same people ever give a thought to being Americans themselves. They may be Americans by birth or naturalization, but many of them are not American in spirit.

Perhaps the greatest way of displaying one's spirit of Americanism is his attitude towards the stars and stripes, the symbol of America. This is where most of our citizens display their weak Americanism.

Saturday, while driving on Route 42, between Bonduel and Black Creek, I passed a public school with one half of the flag flying from the mast. This is now worse than we can see in our own city—flags touching the ground, or otherwise improperly displayed. Such conditions reflect on the individuals concerned, and give administration. Let a conservative Democratic administration come in for our government, we must first have respect for the flag which symbolizes it.

Friday will be Independence Day. Throughout the country millions of flags will be on display. That is the time for each true American to turn over a new leaf of greater respect for the flag and set an example to this neighbor.

Only through the cooperation of everyone will a greater respect for the flag be established, and only through respect for the flag will America remain the Land of Liberty. A True American.

Unusual People

ONLY WOMAN SPEC SELLER

Dr. Gertrude Stanton, of Minneapolis, is the first woman to gain a license in optometry. She practices in the Twin Cities and holds an office in the national organization. Dr. Stanton was left a widow with three children 30 years ago. She took up optometry and, in the old days, often drove 10 to 14 miles to fit glasses. They called her a "spec peddler" then.

The impression that theirs is not a real Americanism.

If we are to have law, and respect for our government, we must first have respect for the flag which symbolizes it.

Friday will be Independence Day. Throughout the country millions of flags will be on display. That is the time for each true American to turn over a new leaf of greater respect for the flag and set an example to this neighbor.

Only through the cooperation of everyone will a greater respect for the flag be established, and only through respect for the flag will America remain the Land of Liberty. A True American.

OUTRAGE TO CHANGE ZONING LAW AGAIN

Editor Post-Crescent—A news item appearing in the Monday evening's issue of the Post-Crescent, advised that an attempt will be made to amend the zoning ordinance to make it possible for one August Frenzel to conduct "a sort of garage or automobile radiator station" where the house formerly known as number two fire department now stands.

Should the common council accept Mr. Frenzel's bid, amend the zoning ordinance, and allow a service station to be operated there, I think it would be a grave injustice to the residents of that vicinity.

The zoning ordinance was enacted to protect the property owners of the residential districts from the encroachment of manufacturing or other commercial enterprises.

Now making or attempting to make an amendment to this ordinance for the sake of a little paltry gain is in my opinion a rather high handed and outrageous proceeding.

While I am in favor of the sale of this property rather than see it going to ruin, I think it could be sold for a fair price, and used for a purpose that would not require an amendment to the ordinance governing such matters.

The taxpayers and voters of the Third and Fifth wards forwarded a petition to the city council some months ago, asking that the fire department again occupy this building but their wishes were coldly ignored.

Now, it certainly would be an added insult to attempt to amend the zoning ordinance in order that it could be sold, occupied and used for a commercial enterprise.

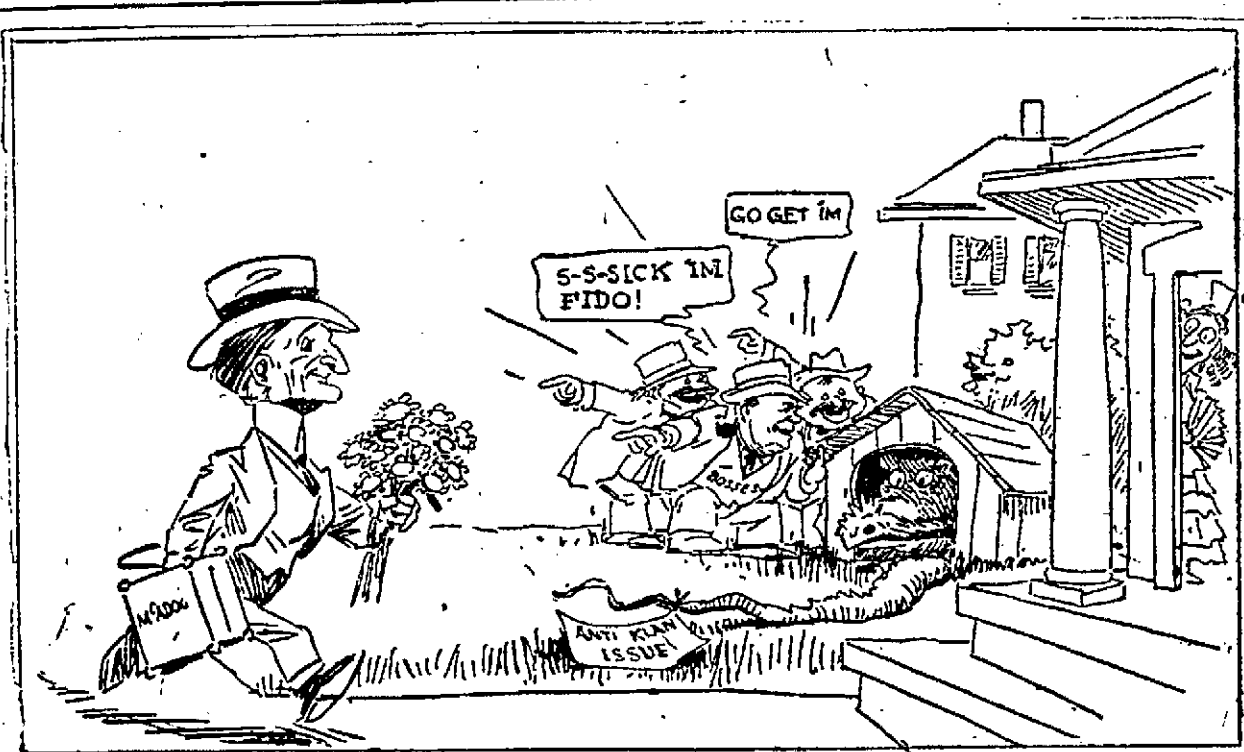

I hope the city council will not countenance any action of this kind.

Yours very truly,

Moose And Scots Plan Two Picnics

Several organizations will celebrate July 4 with picnics to which the families and friends of members are invited. The Robert Burns club and Loyal Order of Moose have planned large festivities for Friday.

The Scots will hold their picnic in Alicia park beginning the celebration with a basket lunch. The committee in charge consists of Alex Ogilvie, chairman, Alex Malcolm, L. McGregor, Joseph Ogilvie, William Stewart, president, and John S. Oliver secretary.

Waverly beach will be the scene of the Moose picnic. Although a number of entertainment features are at the beach now, the lodge has secured other features for the day. Dinner and supper will be served at the beach. Meals may be secured from booths erected for the purpose, or families may take basket lunches, which has been customary for several years. Games, contests and races will be the program of the afternoon.

Reception At Mother's Home For Sons' Wives

Mrs. J. E. Tippet, 703 Lawrence, gave a reception in honor of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Earl Tippet and Walter Tippet, Wednesday from 3 to 5 o'clock. The home was charmingly decorated in a color scheme of pink and white and elaborate refreshments were served. Seventy people attended the affair, among whom were the mother of Mrs. Earl Tippet, Mrs. Karl Mathie, Wausau; a sister, Mrs. James Bell, Clintonville; Miss Gwen Geach, Duluth; Mrs. K. P. Lawrenson, Menasha; and Mrs. N. E. Brokaw, Neenah.

WEDDINGS

G. L. Abbey of Chicago, son of Mrs. Virginia Abbey, 495 Pacific-st., and Miss Della Rockstoh of Chicago were married June 30, in that city. Mrs. Abbey attended the wedding and will remain for another week.

Miss Dorothy Baker, daughter of Ernest Baker, a former Appleton man, was married May 31 to Henry Schroeder. The wedding was solemnized in Westminster Presbyterian church, Milwaukee. Mr. Baker's sister, Mrs. Rossman of Appleton attended the wedding.

Word has been received here of the marriage of Miss Eleanor Powers of Kaukauna, to Herman E. Hansen of Green Bay, which took place July 2, at Elburn, Ill.

LODGE NEWS

Modern Woodmen of America have postponed the meeting which was to have been held on July 4, to Friday, July 18.

Appleton Commandery of Knights Templar have announced that there will be no meetings Friday, July 4 or Friday, July 11.

Deborah Rebekah lodge held its regular meeting Wednesday evening at Odd Fellow hall. Routine business was transacted.

The George D. Eggleston Grand Army Post meeting will not be held Friday, July 4. It has been postponed to Friday July 18.

PICNICS

The Catholic Order of Foresters of the Fox River Valley association, is making arrangements for the annual picnic to be held July 20 at South park, Oshkosh. Arrangements are in charge of St. Hubert court of Oshkosh. The courts from Green Bay to Fond du Lac will be invited to the outing.

Appleton young women over 18 years of age have been invited by directors of Appleton Womens club to meet at the clubhouse at 6 o'clock next Tuesday evening, July 8, to take place in a Siskobob outing. Just what a Siskobob outing is will not be disclosed until the girls arrive at the picnic place which also has not been disclosed.

CLUB MEETINGS

The Auxiliary of United Spanish War veterans have postponed its regular meeting to Friday, July 11.

The Tennis club of the Appleton womens club, will meet at 6 o'clock Thursday evening on the Lawrence college courts. Miss Marie Heinemann, physical director of the club, will be in charge and wishes all the members to attend.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Circle No. 12 of the Methodist Episcopal church, had its regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Sherry, rural route No. 6. Twelve members attended the meeting. Refreshments were served. The circle intends to meet regularly during the summer months although the place of the next meeting has not been announced.

FLED KU KLUX

Threatening letters signed "Ku Klux Klan" have driven Mrs. John Brooke and her family from their home in Penningsgrove, N. J. One letter said that the Klan, at a meeting, objected to Miss Brooke's daughter Alicia going auto riding at night with Richard Kent, 19, son of a prominent merchant. It was demanded that the young couple be kept apart or "action" will be taken. Above is shown Alicia and below Mrs. Brooke, who sold her home and left to avoid further complications.

Tell Society Editor About Your Parties

Have you ever had a swimming party? They're becoming quite popular with many groups of young people, who enjoy a swim at the municipal pool or at one of the beaches, followed by amusements or refreshments. If you have planned such a party, telephone it in to the society reporter, for these items are of much interest.

Club and group meetings can be made much more enjoyable in summer, because things held outdoors are always more entertaining than indoor sessions. You like to read about the affairs of others, so won't you help to make the society page more interesting by telephoning or sending your items to the Post-Crescent?

Another sport that groups are enjoying now are picnic breakfasts before work. Bacon, toasted on sticks, coffee cooked over an open fire and rolls with hot wieners taste good before starting work in the morning and there are lots of places near here where fires may be built. Stop for a few minutes after the party and tell the society reporter about it.

CROWD DOWNTOWN FOR NAVY PARADE

First Visit of Navy Vessels to Appleton Attracts Much Attention

Several thousand people filled the downtown district Wednesday evening to see the parade of the naval reserve forces, which docked here overnight while on their way from Lake Michigan to Oshkosh to patrol the power boat races over the holiday period.

The parade started late and with a smaller number of men than planned because of a misunderstanding of orders. Men in charge of the crews of the submarine chasers in the fleet released the sailors for shore leave with the exception of the Green Bay naval reserve band, not knowing that a parade and public reception were planned here. All sailors who could be located were returned to the ships to take part in the parade but the number was not large.

Appleton Naval Veterans association furnished a color escort for the parade. The marchers proceeded from the government dock on Lake at up Pearl-st. to Lawrence and west on that street to Cherry-st. They then proceeded over Cherry-st. to College-ave and east to Drew-st. Returning westward they marched to Conway hotel where the band gave a brief concert.

Officers of Oney Johnston post of the American legion gave a dinner for the officers of the fleet in the Blue room of Conway hotel shortly after arrival of the fleet consisting of two submarine chasers and a flagship. The boats continued their journey to Lake Winnebago Thursday morning. They will reach here again on their return trip Saturday and probably will dock here overnight.

Large numbers of people visited the dock and inspected the boats, which were the first naval vessels to visit Appleton.

Leap Year Put Damper On Weddings

The statement "Leap year and yet a decrease in the number of June brides" probably should be changed to "Leap year and therefore fewer June brides."

John E. Hantschel, the affable county clerk, knows of no other way to account for the drop in the marriage market. The month of roses and brides this year netted only 54 licenses, while the number for June in the year previous was 62, and two years ago 55. Although there were only 54 applications for licenses last month, yet several of the 43 licenses issued in May were for June weddings. There were really 63 June brides and bridegrooms.

Up to the end of June, only 147 couples had applied for matrimonial permits this year. This number is about 30 below the half year figure a year ago and less than the number for the first half year of 1922.

The cool nights may have kept many couples away from moonlight strolls and rides and thus acted as a damper on proposals, but the real reason, in the opinion of the county clerk, is that men are too shy to propose during leap year and that women hesitate to accept a leap-year proposal for fear they may be thought to have proposed themselves.

COPS AND WOMEN DISAGREE ON TALE OF 'PEEPING TOM'

Policeman Says Women Jabbed Him in Face and Women Deny It

In the confusion of the fracas in which a Peeping Tom was arrested by Capt. P. J. Vaughan and Officer Albert Deltgen on the lawn of Mrs. L. Oden, 729 Franklin-st., Sunday evening, it became somewhat dubious just which was attacked by which.

Officer Deltgen, who is still nursing his sore head, on which he had been struck by a bottle, knows that he got the worst of the "rumpus." Dragging his man up the steps, he had all he could do to withstand the attack of the assailant with the bottle, but managed to wrench the weapon out of his hands.

Mrs. Oden says it was all a mistake and because of the dark, Ed Maley, a rgoner, and Officer Deltgen each believed the other to be a partner of the peeper. Henry Schaffelke, who paid his $10 for fine for the offense, admits that his memory is not very clear on the subject, since it was beggared with strong drink.

The officer had the peeper's head looked under his arm and was dragging him up the steps of the house in order to get help. It was then that mistaken assault began. One of the women of the house jabbed his face with clothes pins, he says, and he also saw one armed with a rolling pin. In the excitement Capt. Vaughan who was called to identify Deltgen, also had his knuckles rapped by the rolling pin.

During the mixup Schaffelke, it seems, tried to wriggle away, but was held by the women. Later in the patrol car, he tried to make another break but was detained with a little rough handling. The women deny the use of rolling pin and clothes pins on the officers.

TAKE OFF TAX ON TELEPHONE TOLLS, THEATRE TICKETS

New Revenue Law Becomes Operative at Midnight on July 2

Federal taxes on long distance telephone calls and on theater tickets costing 50 cents or less was abolished at midnight on July 2, according to announcements from government officials. Wisconsin people, it is estimated, paid about $400,000 a year tax on their telephone tolls, all of which will be wiped out. The charge was 5 cents on a message costing from 14 to 50 cents and 10 cents on messages which cost more than 50 cents.

The tax on theater tickets costing more than 50 cents is the same as under the revenue act of 1921, which is 1 cent for each 10 cents of admission. A ticket costing 60 cents must carry an additional 6 cents war tax.

Theater owners using tickets of admission costing 50 cents or less need not have them serially dated or numbered. However it is necessary that all tickets have stamped, printed, or written thereon the price for which they are sold.

Most theaters and places where admission is charged will have on hand supplies of tickets printed in accordance with the requirements of the revenue act of 1921. These tickets may be sold for a limited time for the established price as printed thereon. The right to use such tickets will be granted until Sept. 21, 1924.

HOPE TO HAVE PART OF HOTEL READY BY JULY 15

The Conway hotel expects to have the second and third floors of the new six story addition for use after July 15. Not all the furniture for the rooms has arrived, nor have the rugs been received. Plasterers still are working at the new dining rooms which will not be ready for another month. The French room will be used in connection with the Coffee shop but will be used for parties in case of necessity. The former Venetian room will be the new French room while the new section will provide three new private dining rooms, besides the large dining room. Including the Blue room, the Conway hotel will have six dining rooms available for private parties.

Appleton Stenographers Sensible About Clothes

Not very long ago a weekly magazine published an article written by someone on intimate terms with England's royal household in which she discussed the habits of the Duchess of York, wife of the second son of the King of England. The authoress said that the duchess wore simple clothes that would be scorned by the average stenographer, preferring the simple tweeds and homespuns and in the afternoon she wears crepe de chine frocks. An Appleton stenographer, after being told this, sniffed and said that she had priced one of these little homespun suits and decided that she didn't like it so well after all, after she'd discovered the price. About crepe de chine for afternoon, well that was what some of her best clothes were made of and far be it from her to wear them everyday to the office.

MAKE THEIR OWN
If Appleton's stenographers make their own clothes or have someone in the family who will make them for her, an office dress for summer probably will cost her $5. One stenographer said that she had bought material for a dress that day and it cost her a little over $2. When the dress is completed she expects that it will cost about $5, but not over. Those who buy their clothes ready-to-wear seldom pay more than $10 or $12.

For winter wear dresses made at home are likely to cost $15, while if made by a dressmaker or bought ready made, do not average over $25 apiece. And a $25 dress, the consensus of opinion will show, is the average stenographers very nicest frock and not one that is worn for office wear.

Most of the dresses worn in summer are of linen, crepes or gingham. Plaited skirts, worn with white cotton waists and sweaters, are great favorites and are not expensive outfits.

Many of the girls who work in offices or stores are accomplished seamstresses and make their own clothes. By this method they can

NEED WASH DRESSES

Another reason for the inexpensive clothes of stenographers is that they must have wash dresses or clothes that are easily cleaned, for typewriter ribbons, ink and other dust and dirt that are bound to soil the clothes and it is quite essential that the girls be neat-appearing.

It has been the public opinion for some time that office girls overdress for work, but a trip into the numerous offices and stores in Appleton will prove that most of them dress according to their means, which is usually quite simply, and wear clothes for comfort. One stenographer remarked that if she came "dolled up like a circus horse" her employer would be likely to escort her to the door and tell her to go home.

Another stenographer said that while she bought few clothes, she bought quality instead of quantity, finding this to be the best. But quality, she said, didn't mean elaborate things, but clothes that are durable, best for the money, and attractive.

WARN MOTORISTS TO KEEP OFF SHAWANO-CO ROUTE D

Appleton automobile drivers are advised to avoid county trunk line D, between Clintonville and Antigo, 14 miles of which are torn up. George E. Peotter, city building inspector, attempted to drive over it Sunday, but was unsuccessful. He said farmers were busy pulling out automobiles the greater part of the day.

PHILIPP SELECTING STATE C. C. LEADERS

Committees to draft the constitution and bylaws of the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce, to suggest its permanent officers and to select a place and fix a date of meeting will be announced by E. L. Philipp within a few days, according to word received by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday. Former Gov. Philipp is acting as president of the newly formed state chamber of commerce until its organization can be completed.

The committees will be representative of a large number of cities interested in the state chamber. Mr. Philipp is making the selection of members carefully with the advice of others who have been much interested in seeing the state organization develop and begin to function.

POLICE ASKED TO HUNT FOR ARMY DESERTER

Police here have been asked to be on the look out for a man with 16 aliases who has enlisted and deserted from the army, navy and marine corps 14 times since 1917. The man has just deserted the service for the fourteenth time and it is thought that he may have come to the Fox river valley.

His first enlistment was in July, 1917, when he enlisted as George Cassidy. Since then he is said to have joined the colors as Tom Dan McCoy, Robert A. Standon, Thomas Averly, William E. Norman, William A. Johnson, Patrick A. Kovaleski, Henry John Henderson, John Alfred, and numerous other names.

The man is 27 years old and weighs about 150 pounds. His desertion record includes seven from the army, two from the navy and five from the marines.

MANITOWOC LOSES TWO MORE TRAINS

Two trains effecting Kaukauna and Manitowoc and intervening villages were discontinued Monday by the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company for lack of patronage, it was said. They were No 106 which left Kaukauna at 6:50 in the morning and arrived at Manitowoc at 8:08 and the northbound Milwaukee train due at Manitowoc at 9:28 in the morning and at Kaukauna at 10:15.

Both trains now make Manitowoc their terminal, No. 106 starting south from that city at 8:08 and the 8:28 from the south now arriving in that city at 9:45 and ending its run there.

It Happens Every Day

When the best stenographer you ever had, up and leaves you, because her folks are moving out of the city—

And you try a girl that one of your business friends had to lay-off and you find out why he had to do it, because she can't get dictation straight and sends off letters to the wrong addresses—

And you try another girl that somebody else recommended and she turns out to be a member of the leisure class—

And finally, when you can almost feel your business going to rack and ruin because there isn't anybody who knows how to attend to the details, you decide to try a Help Wanted ad in The POST-CRESCENT.

And the next day you have a dozen capable-looking applicants and you pick out a neat and intelligent girl, almost like the perfect one who left, and she starts things running smoothly again—

That Puts The Joy Back Into Life!

America's Birthday A Triumph of Confidence

It was Confidence that transformed the smoke and glare of Revolutionary battle-fields into peaceful badges of prosperity over the mills and factories of a hundred and ten million people.

No mighty national resources backed the patriots of '76 pressing steadily forward, often with little ammunition but always with inexhaustible Confidence.

Yet, had they feared or faltered, had they lacked Confidence, we of today would not be blessed with a myriad opportunities for still greater achievements.

Are we to benefit by those opportunities?

Not unless we again go forward—now—each to his own objective, with the inexhaustible Confidence and fearlessness of that little band of patriots of 1776.

SO BIG

By Edna Ferber

"Goodness knows I'm not straight-laced. You can't be in this day and age. If I ever thought I'd live to see the time when—well, since the war of course anything's all right, seems. But Paula has no sense. Everybody knows she's insane about Dirk. That's all right for Dirk, but how about Paula? She won't go anywhere unless he's invited. Of course Dirk is awfully popular. Goodness knows there are few enough young men like him in Chicago—handsome and successful and polished and all. Most of them dash off East just as soon as they can get their fathers to establish an Eastern branch or something. They're to go, all the time, everywhere. I asked her if she was going to divorce Storm and she said no, she hadn't enough money of her own and Dirk wasn't earning enough. His salary's thousands, but she's used to millions. Well!"

"They were boy and girl together," Selma interrupted, feebly.
"They're not any more. Don't be silly, Selma. You're not as young as that."
No she was not as young as that. When Dirk next paid one of his rare visits to the farm she called into her bedroom—the cool, dim, shabby bedroom with the old black walnut bed in which she had lain as Pervus DeJong's bride more than thirty years ago. She had on a little knitted jacket over her severe white nightgown. Her abundant hair was neatly braided in two long plaits. She looked somehow girlish there in the dim light, her great soft eyes gazing up at him.
"Dirk, sit down here at the side of my bed the way you used to."
"I'm dead tired, Mother. Twenty-seven holes of golf before I came out."
"I know. You ache all over—a nice kind of ache. I used to feel like that when I'd worked in the fields all day, pulling vegetables, or planting." He was silent. She caught his hand. "You didn't like that. My saying that. I'm sorry. I didn't say it to make you feel bad, dear."

"I know you didn't, Mother."
"Dirk, do you know what that woman who writes the society news in the Sunday Tribune called you to-day?"
"No. What? I never read it."
"She said you were one of the jeunesse dorée."
Dirk grinned. "Gosh!"
"I remember enough of my French at Miss Plater's school to know that that means gilded youth."
"Me? That's good! I'm not even spangled."
"Dirk!" her voice was low, vibrant. "Dirk, I don't want you to be a gilded youth. I don't care how thick the gilding. Dirk, that isn't what I worked in the sun and cold for. I'm not reproaching you; I didn't mind the work. Forgive me for even mentioning it. But, Dirk, I don't want my son to be known as one of the jeunesse dorée. Not my son!"
"Now, listen, Mother. That's foolish. If you're going to talk like that, like a mother in a melodrama whose son's gone wrong. I work like a dog. You know that. You get the wrong angle on things, stuck out here on this little farm. Why don't you come to town and take a little place and sell the farm?"
"Live with you, you mean?" Pure mischiefousness.
"Oh, no. You wouldn't like that," he hastily. "Besides, I'd never be there at the office all day, and out somewhere in the evening."
"When do you do your reading, Dirk?"
"Why—uh—"
She sat up in bed, looking down at the thin end of her hand as she twined it round and round her finger.
"Dirk, what is this you call in that mahogany office of yours? I never did get the hang of it."
"Bonds, Mother. You know that perfectly well."
"Bonds." She considered this a moment. "Are they hard to sell? You buy them?"
"That depends. Everybody buys them—that is, if—"
"I don't. I suppose because whenever

I had any money it went back into the farm for implements, or repairs, or seed, or stock, or improvements. That's always the way with a farmer—even on a little truck farm like this." She pondered again a moment. He digested, yawned. "Dirk DeJong—Bond Salesman."

"The way you say it, Mother, it sounds like a low criminal pursuit."
"Dirk, do you know sometimes I actually think that if you had stayed here on the farm—"

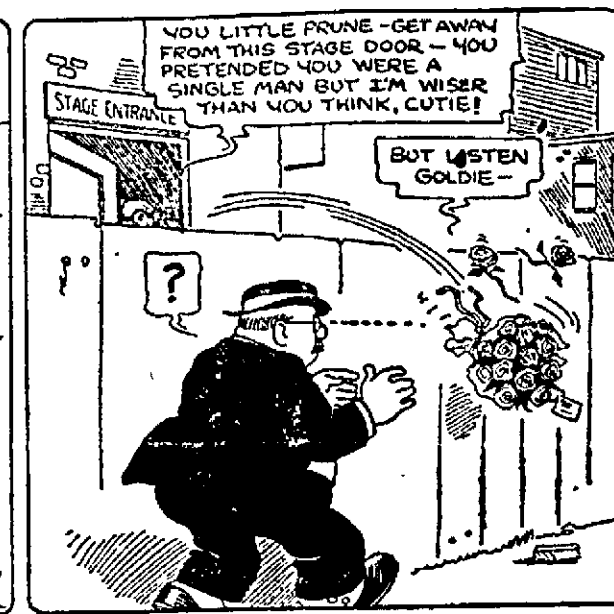

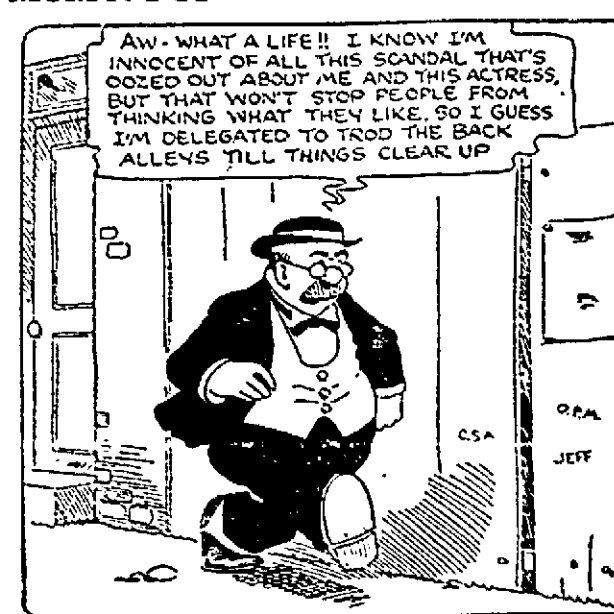

"Good God, Mother! What for?"
"Oh, I don't know. Time to dream. Time to—no, I suppose that isn't true any more. I suppose the day is past when the genius came from the farm. Machinery has cut into his dreams. He used to sit for hours on the wagon seat, the reins slack in his hands, while the horses plodded into town. Now he whizzes by in a jitney. Fastest binders, plows, reapers—he's a mechanic. He hasn't time to dream. I guess if Lincoln had lived to-day he'd have split his rails to the tune of a humming, snarling patent wood cutter, and in the evening he'd have whirled into town to get his books at the public library, and he'd have read them under the glare of the electric light bulb instead of lying flat in front of the flickering wood fire. Well..."

She lay back, looked up at him. "Dirk, why don't you marry?"
"Why—there's no one I want to marry."
"No one who's free, you mean?"
He stood up. "I mean no one." He stooped and kissed her lightly. Her arms went around him close. Her hand with the thick gold wedding band on it pressed his head to her hair. "So big!" He was a baby again.
"You haven't called me that in years." He was laughing.
She reverted to the old game they had played when he was a child. "How big is my son? How big?" She was smiling, but her eyes were somber.

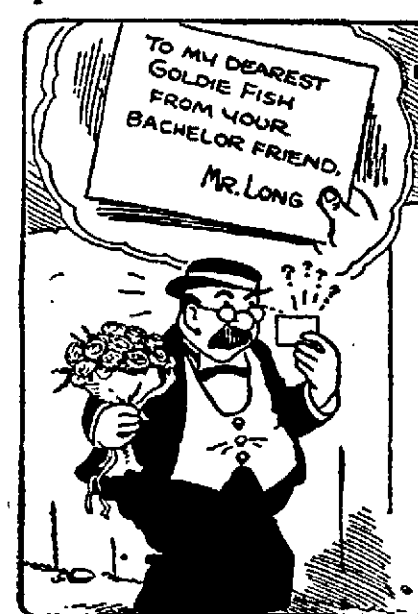

"So big," answered Dirk, and measured a very tiny space between thumb and forefinger. "So big."
She faced him, sitting up very straight in bed, the little shawl hunched about her shoulders. "Dirk, are you ever going back to architecture? The war is history. It's now or never with you. Pretty soon it will be too late. Are you ever going back to architecture? To your profession?"
A clean amputation. "No, Mother."
She gave an actual gasp, as though icy waves had been thrown full in her face. She looked suddenly old, tired. Her shoulders sagged. He stood in the doorway, braced for her reproaches. But when she spoke it was to reproach herself. "Then I'm a failure."
"Oh, what nonsense, Mother. I'm happy. You can't live somebody else's life. You used to tell me, when I was a kid I remember, that life wasn't just an adventure, to be taken as it came, with the hope that something glorious was always hidden just around the corner. You said you had lived that way and it hadn't worked. You said—"
She interrupted him with a little cry. "I know I did. I know I did." Suddenly she raised a warning finger. Her eyes were luminous, prophetic. "Dirk, you can't desert her like that." "Desert who?" He was startled. "Beauty! Self-expression. What ever you want to call it. You want! She'll turn on you some day. Some day you'll want her, and she won't be there."
Inwardly he had been resentful of this bedside conversation with his mother. She made little of him, he thought, while outsiders appreciated his success. He had said, "So big," measuring a tiny space between thumb and forefinger in answer to her half-playful question, but he had not honestly meant it. He thought her ridiculously old-fashioned now in her viewpoint, and certainly unreasonable. But he would not quarrel with her.

"You war," too, Mother," he said now, smiling. "Some day your wayward son will be a real success. Wait till the millions roll in. Then we'll see."

COAL INDUSTRY
GETTING BACK
ONTO ITS FEET

Babson Sees Little Change in Prices—Small Probability of Shortage

Babson Park, Mass.—The coal industry, important in itself and because of its effect on other industries, is getting back onto a normal basis, according to Roger W. Babson. The statistician discusses both bituminous and anthracite fields in a report issued today.

"The coal industry has been upset so long," says Mr. Babson, "that it is distinctly encouraging to find that it is preparing to get back onto a more normal basis. The feast and famine program promises to give way to something approximating three square meals a day for the operator, the miner, and finally, the consumer."

"The latest upset started last winter with the threat of a strike for this summer. To prepare for such an emergency the operators rushed to build up a reserve supply and the 1922 production of bituminous totaling 422,000,000 tons was topped with a volume of 545,000,000 tons in 1923. January of this year followed suit with 50,000,000 tons, and February totaled 45,000,000 then it became apparent that business was slowing up; the threatened strike was called off and a three year agreement with the miners was signed. Demand declined and the operators found themselves with a tremendous stock on their hands. In fact, April first showed our reserve supplies at 60,000,000 tons, the largest in recent years. Prices dropped to $2.10 at the mine and operations were curtailed—during April, May and June production ran about 60 per cent of the average earlier in the year."

STOCKS STILL HEAVY

"Stocks are still relatively heavy but prices are down to $2.10 at the mine and demand is overtaking the supply. Under these circumstances it is probable that some of the high cost properties will have to close, but everyone will be better off with fewer producers working a greater part of the time. Prices may not go much below present quotations and certain keen buyers look toward slightly higher levels. However there is little in the present situation to justify any radical change in either direction. Production meantime should follow its normal seasonal tendency with a possible slight increase as fall business demands materialize. Prudent buyers are covering their needs in the present market."

"Once the industry gets back into its stride it should hold it until some development threatens another coal shortage, then I suppose we shall all have to run the gauntlet again, taking our lickings by turn. Such a shortage ordinarily develops from a combination of three factors. If business gets to booming and the demand for coal is unusually heavy, prices climb and the buyers rush in to protect their need. Result—a temporary shortage. There is nothing in the present situation (the Babson chart shows general business activity at 13 per cent. below normal) to promise any shortage for this year, at least. Threatened labor difficulties have a similar effect on the market, but the three year agreement now in force precludes the probability of shut downs on this score. The third factor is transportation. When coal cannot be moved from the mines it might as well not exist as far as the market is concerned. Plenty of

CUT CAR LICENSE
FEE AFTER JULY 1

Affidavits of non-use of automobiles may be obtained from John F. Hant-schel, county clerk, to be used in filing claims for the 25 per cent discount on state license plates secured after July 1. Under the law a discount of 25 per cent on the regular fee applies only to new cars or on cars that have not been operated on Wisconsin highways during 1924 before July 1. If the car is new, the application should be so designated. If the car is not new but unused, the application card should be accompanied by a certificate of non-use, when sent to the secretary of state. The discount on license fees after Sept. 1 will be 50 per cent of the regular fee. A discount varying according to weight also is allowed on cars that are five or more years old.

cars and no congestion promise rapid transportation of coal during the remainder of the year.

BUYING LESSENS

"The anthracite industry has not suffered so great a slump as the bituminous because no strike was threatened and stocks were not built up to such a great extent. Production in 1923 of 95,000,000 tons has been followed by production around 7,000,000 tons a month this year. Low prices for the year are ordinarily reached in April when a differential is put into effect to speed early deliveries. This usual monthly increase is now scheduled and will probably continue. Little change in wholesale prices may be expected."

"Retail coal dealers are facing a serious problem. The public is not buying this summer in the usual volume. Many of the retail dealers, lacking more storage space or sufficient capital, are being forced to refuse their shipments as they come from the mines. The operators in this case curtail production and are only mining as much coal as the dealers can take. If this continues we will find everyone clamoring for coal September 1. It will be physically impossible for the dealer to get and deliver in a single month the coal he should have been delivering all summer. Under these circumstances a local shortage may easily develop and we will all be rushing around trying to get coal at any price."

"There is little chance of prices going any lower under the existing conditions and the wise man will get his coal now when he can get deliveries, thus avoiding possible shortage prices and the bother of trying to get it later this fall."

"The consuming public may also be interested," concluded Mr. Babson, "in the recent findings of the Canadian Geological Survey which reports on new fields in Alberta which promise to supply anthracite, bituminous, and lignite coal for all of Canada for many years. This spells smaller exports from our own supply and precludes the probability of more shortages, as severe as the last two."

COUNCIL REFUSES TO GIVE MORE TIME TO FINISH BRIDGE

Aldermen Fear Extension After
July 1 Will Effect
Contract

No extension of time to complete Cherry-st bridge was granted the contractors by the common council Wednesday evening upon recommendation of the judiciary committee composed of Aldermen H. R. Beske, J. F. Lappen and Wenzel Haseman and City Attorney Alfred C. Bosser to whom the matter was referred, and who submitted their report. It was explained by a member of the committee that this position was taken because of the effect it would have upon the bonds. July 1 was the time set for the completion of the structure. The contract provides for a penalty of $25 a day after July 1.

The judiciary committee reported also it found no violation of the zoning ordinance with reference to Martin Boldt & Sons.

Bills were allowed amounting approximately to $82,000. It was explained by the clerk that more than $70,000 of this amount was advanced on junior high school construction work. A communication from the Northwestern Railway company with reference to crossings and signals was referred to the street and bridge committee. The chairman of the board of public works submitted his final report on several proposed sewers. The report of the street and bridge committee relative to the cleaning and oiling of certain streets, and to the construction of certain sidewalks and sewers was adopted.

Chief of Police George T. Prim was granted permission to attend the annual convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police at Montreal, Canada, July 14, 15, 16 and 17. He will leave here in time to be present at the opening of the program.

The claim of $3 filed by Mrs. Mary Grosser, 1233 Eighth-st, who fell on Cherry-st just after it had been oiled damaging her dress, undergarments and shoes was referred to the judiciary committee. A petition of the Combined Locks Paper company relative to a bill rendered by the city for snow shoveling was referred to the finance committee. The cinderling of Cherry-st south of the new bridge was referred to the board of public works. The George D. Eggleston post reported it had used $145 of the $150 appropriated for Memorial day and turned back the balance.

Six bids for furnishing oil burners for the city hall, two of which were unaccompanied by checks, were re-

STACK PITCHES APPLETON TO 5 TO 3 WIN OVER PAIS

Homers By Sylvester, Stack Enable Team To Win Booster Contest

Westphal, New Menasha Moundman, Fails to Stop Papermakers in Their Slugging Party in Benefit Game.

With Eddie Stack in the role of hero, Appleton state league ball team handed a 5 to 3 lacing to Menasha in the booster day attraction at Brandt park Wednesday afternoon. In spite of the fact that it was booster day, the attendance was disappointing. There is considerable consolation for the magnates and the American legion, however, in the large number of people who bought tickets did not attend the game, so the net proceeds from the ticket sale is larger than the attendance indicated.

Stack pitched a whizz of a ball game, fielded faultlessly and then crowned the day's work by kicking the ball out of the lot for a home run in the sixth inning. The solid blow came after the pitcher was hit from the outfield by Sylvester. Dutch had caught a long fly for the third out and heaved the ball to the infield as Stack was walking to the dugout. The pellet caught Stack on the ankle and he went down. For a minute it was feared he was badly hurt but he managed to hobble to the bench, laced up his shoe, grabbed his war club, limped to the plate and batted the first ball pitched to him. He had plenty of time to limp around the sacks.

Westphal, a new recruit for the Menasha club, did the moundwork for the Pails and pitched a fairly good game after a bad start. A couple of plays that savored of ivory relieved him of distress a few times but he was in hot water the first few frames. Four hits in succession in the first inning netted only one run, largely because Les Smith, in his anxiety to get around, ran to second only to find the sack occupied. While the Pails were trying to pick him off, Bergnerino lit out for the plate but was nipped. But for Les' play, the Papermakers probably would have scored another run of two in the frame.

Menasha scored two runs in the first inning without the semblance of a hit. Weissgerber dropped a throw to first to put Stack in trouble right at the start. Leopold headed and then Weissgerber heaved the ball over Red Smith's head in an effort to stop Wurth at third. Wurth scored home on the ball. Leopold scored while Cissa was being retired at first.

Menasha was held hitless until the third inning and did not score again until the sixth when Cissa crossed the plate on a double, a single and a sacrifice fly.

The Papermakers scored two runs in the second on hits by Weissgerber and Les Smith and a wild throw by Zelinski. The other two runs were the result of homers by Sylvester and Stack.

THE thing that makes the favorite son business, as practiced by politicians, all wrong, like red ants in the picnic pockles, is the horrible judgment displayed in selecting said favorite sons.

Who is the favorite son of Georgia? Ty Cobb, of course. And was Ty's name put in nomination at either of the word-tossing tournaments? It was not.

What if Cobb knows nothing about the tariff, world court, disarmament program or ship subsidy, can't he still make a bum out of any pitcher that grooves one with the bases loaded?

And who is the favorite son of Kansas? Don't ask such silly questions? Walter Johnson has done more to advertise Kansas than all the bag-punching statesmen at large.

And what does he get when the big-lunged gas pipes of the country assembled to pick the next golf champion of the White House lawn? The air.

They didn't even let him go in the bull pen to warm up when the dippy delegates began to knock McAdoo and Smith all over the lot.

Does Utah give Jack Dempsey a tumble? Does she storm up and down the aisles singing throaty praises to two of the greatest fists the world has ever known? Not to mention one of the hardest chins?

She doesn't. Only one delegate even mentions him. That was when he stood in the middle of Madison

SUNDAY'S RESULTS
Embarrass 4, Manawa 3.
Bear Creek 4, Zachow 2.
Black Creek 0, Galesburg 8.

Close games again featured the inter-county league race Sunday, and as a result Manawa and Zachow, hitherto undefeated, have games entered against them in the loss column.

Every team in the league seems to be playing better ball each Sunday, and the race promises to be a close one throughout the season. Good crowds are reported at all games and excitement is growing in all the towns represented. One hundred Zachow fans made the trip to Bear Creek with their team last Sunday. The Zachow-Bear Creek game was a battle between Styczynski, Zachow's strikeout expert, and McCleone, Bear Creek's 16-year-old marvel. Only three hits were made off McCleone. He issued one base on balls and struck out ten men. Styczynski gave eight hits and struck out seven men and hit one batter.

Zachow scored in the sixth inning, one on a hit following a base on balls and two errors. Bear Creek came in the eighth on four successive hits. Kitchie opened with a two base hit. T. Muller followed suit. Paul singled and J. McCleone cleared the sacks with a three bagger and scored on an overthrow to third.

There will be no independence day games in the league. Next Sunday games are as follows: Zachow at Manawa; Bear Creek at Black Creek; Embarrass at Galesburg.

APPLETON HOME PLAYERS PLAY KIMBERLY JULY 4

The Appleton Regulars of the Home Players League will engage in league contest with the Kimberly team on the Fourth of July. Kimberly beat Seymour in a scheduled league game last Sunday and is expected to put up interesting fight against the Appleton players.

I ask you ladies, and the things the minister wished on you, is this justice? Is this what our darling forefathers came over in this May flower for? Was it to gain this sour and sordid end that we crushed German Kultur and Kraut?

I propose that in the future when a politician nominates a favorite son that he be forced to specify whose favorite son he is and why.

Gossip Of Sports

Neal McIntyre, the golf professional at the Town and Country club, Fond du Lac, will defend his state championship title in the annual Badger tournament, which will be staged at the Maple Bluff course, Madison on July 27 and 28. McIntyre is playing superb golf this season.

Westphal, a pitcher and outfielder from the Wisconsin river valley, has been added to the battle from the Nee-Menasha Pails. He is credited with being a demon at the bat, and anger Rusk isn't taking any chances on not having enough players on the bench when his squad gets in action. Westphal pitched a good game against Appleton Wednesday.

The Oshkosh ball club evidently has weathered the storm. A reorganization has been completed. Bull Durban will continue to guide the team on the playing field while Banker Williams is to take charge of the finances. All of the players have agreed to stick with the ship and hope for the best.

Tony Schultz is beginning to show flashes of form that made him one of the most valued players in the McGillican wheel last year. The Bay Shore fielder got off to a poor start and his slick work was way below his usual average but these days he is more than making up for lost time.

McLaughlin, Fondy's yearling infielder had a bad day against the Nee-Menasha Pails and his two boots.

coming in the same inning, handed the Pails a couple of counters on a golden plate. However, the best of em have a bad day every now and then and the youngster has shown class all season.

Milt Wilson has sung his swan song with the Oshkosh team. The outfielder called quits when his pay check did not arrive at regular intervals and turned in his uniform. Wilson's action wasn't taken very well in the Sawdust City. It is said, as the other members of the team were in the same plight.

Norm Wilbert, one of the youngsters with the Sheboygan club was given a chance to earn his spurs in a game the Chairs played against a college nine from Indiana. Wilbert went into left field and handled one chance cleanly besides connecting for a hit that scored two runs.

Jack Harris, Wisconsin's football captain, is getting in shape for the coming gridiron season by working out in the Manitowish shipyards. He is in the riveting crew and is tolling ten hours daily. During his rest period, Harris is assisting in the Boy Scout athletic activities.

The old rivals, Oshkosh and Appleton, are scheduled to do battle in the Sawdust city on Sunday. Both teams are struggling along about midway in the pennant chase and a victory would mean much to either squad. It is probable that Smith and Eddie Stack will be the hurling nomina-

Veteran Of National League

ZACK WHEAT

Brooklyn — Zack Wheat of Brooklyn, oldest player in point of continuous service in the National League, is still going at a lively gait.

This is Wheat's sixteenth year in the main jamore. He came up in 1909 and he has been with the Dodgers ever since. Outside of Cobb, Carey and Walter Johnson no player has remained on the same club as long a time as has Wheat.

In Wheat's 15 completed campaigns in the big show he has hit over .300 on all but four occasions, and on three of those times he was within close shooting of the coveted circle.

Strange as it may seem, the veteran hung up his best batting figure last year when he turned in a mark of .375, finishing right behind Hornsby, the leader. Wheat topped the old circuit in clouting in 1913 with .338.

Up to and including last season Wheat had been in 1916 big league games, getting 2232 hits in 7266 times at bat for an average of .310. He made 570 runs over that stretch, 131 sacrifice hits and stole 135 bases. His total base mark was 3190, which included 250 doubles, 147 triples and 98 home runs.

Wheat has been in two world series—1916 and 1920, hitting .333 in the latter.

Wheat came to the Dodgers from Mobile in the Southern League. The reported sale price was $1200.

Senators Bump Boston While Yankees Split Double Bill With Macks

Washington Keeps Up Its Winning Streak—Detroit Downs White Sox in Pitchers' Battle.

Washington in the American league has developed a speed which may rival that of Boston in 1914 when the Braves leaped from last place in midseason to a national league pennant and a world's championship.

The Senators have won 17 of their last 19 games. During this season many clubs have launched, boats which soon faltered but that of the Senators has poked up speed. Thirteen contests have been won and two lost in the last eleven days.

The biggest improvement has been among the pitchers as ordinary hurlers of other years have become stars overnight. Zahnizer, veteran of many mediocre seasons shut out Boston Wednesday 5 to 0, allowing only two hits. In previous games of series O'Brien held the Red Sox to three hits, Marberry to five and Zachary to seven. Johnson and Mordridge have been pitching the same class of ball.

With the Senators three games ahead, the next six clubs continue in a jumping jack performance from second place to seventh.

The Yankees split a doubleheader with the Athletics by scores of 5 to 4 and 10 to 1 and fell four points behind Detroit which beat Chicago 2 to 1 in an old fashioned pitchers' battle decided in favor of Whitehill over Connally.

Rommell was a better relief pitcher than Hoyt after Bush and Harris had been knocked out in the first game of the Yankees double header. The world's champion smothered their opponents in the second game. Scott hit a homer with two on.

Meyer was driven from the box by the Browns who defeated Cleveland, 5 to 4 and climbed from seventh place to one point behind the Indians.

Conner pitched masterful ball against the Cardinals, winning three to two and Pittsburgh continued its threat of march on Brooklyn and Chicago.

The Cubs gained on the Glants by winning from Cincinnati, 7 to 5 as Dazzy Vance broke the New York spell and pitched Brooklyn to a 4 to 7 victory. Carlson held the Braves to five hits and the Phillies moved into sixth place in the National by winning a 3 to 1 victory.

Lee Mangum won his fourteenth game of the season when he pitched the Millers to a 7-1 victory over the Brewers, holding the Cream City team to five scattered hits.

KAUKAUNA PITCHER BECOMES IRON MAN

Young Stegeman of the Kaukauna Home Players team has been pitching fine ball all season. Last Saturday Kromer's home players tied the Wisconsin state prison team in 10 innings, 1 to 1. Stegeman, with four three hit games and a one-hit game to his credit, had the state prison team puzzled. The next day Stegeman went in and rebuffed Gertz in the game with Plymouth. Gertz had allowed 11 runs in four innings against the Calumet-MacIntyre county leaguers, but Stegeman held them ransom during the five remaining innings of the game, making it 15 tuning in two days with only one run against him.

The Washington Senators continue to display their banner brand of base ball and they appear to be fairly entrenched in first place in the American league race. Harris & Co. have a long stay at home and they should be able to turn back all invaders. Washington has been knocking off the other pennant contenders quite frequently and, if the pitchers stand the gaff, there is a good chance that something beside a presidential investigation will be staged in Washington.

Suzanne Longlen has withdrawn from the tennis tournament at Wimbledon and there is a possibility that the French net queen won't be able to participate in the Olympics. Suz

AMERICAN OLYMPIC STARS SHOW GREAT FORM IN TRYOUTS

Yankees Confident on Eve of Opening of World Athletic Meet

By Associated Press
Paris.—The field event performers of the American Olympic team, after a slow start, are rounding into a condition which augurs well for their chances of victory in the championships next week.

F. D. Tootell and M. J. McGrath, youngster and veteran are rivals for the hammer, and either is likely to triumph. Both hurled the ball over 150 feet which is not far from Pat Ryan's world record.

Ralph Hills, Glenn Hyrtrant and Clarence Houser, have recorded scores of slightly more than fifty feet in the shotput, also close to the world's mark and promise to be ripe for a terrific battle with the Finnish stars, Lorppe, who is credited with fifty feet and V. Porhola, who finished well up at Antwerp. Hyrtrant and Houser have been heaving the discs well over 140 feet, as have T. J. Lieb and Augustus Pope, and the Yankees are confident that this quartet will clean up.

L. B. Priester with several tosses to 200 feet, appears to be the best of the javelin throwers.

J. K. Brooker and Ralph Spearow are showing fine pole vault form and Dehart Hubbard is in condition to make a formidable bid for honors in the broad jump and the hop, step and jump.

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

Somebody is going to get tumbled off the top of the heap tomorrow at Nee-Menasha when the Pails and Sheboygan stage their first place battle. The teams are tied for leadership honors. The Oshkosh club plays in Kaukauna while Appleton will battle in Fond du Lac. Green Bay is idle over the Fourth and will rest up for the invasion of the Electric City on Sunday.

Sunday, the lid will be lifted on the Olympic classic in Paris and athletes from 45 nations will participate in the world championship events. A total of 1,430 athletes are entered. The hundred metre dash has attracted 97 contestants, while the 400 metre relay has drawn entries from twenty nations. The hammer throw has drawn the fewest competitors, eighteen from ten nations. Uncle Sam has four huskies in this event and there is a good chance that the stars and stripes will make a clean sweep.

The Washington Senators continue to display their banner brand of base ball and they appear to be fairly entrenched in first place in the American league race. Harris & Co. have a long stay at home and they should be able to turn back all invaders. Washington has been knocking off the other pennant contenders quite frequently and, if the pitchers stand the gaff, there is a good chance that something beside a presidential investigation will be staged in Washington.

Butte, Mont.—Dixie Lahood Butte, 19-year-old bantam, knocked out Young Green of Charleston W. Va. in the first of a 12 round bout.

Toledo—Toughie Mayne of Toledo shaded Pete McCloskey, Detroit lightweight, in ten rounds.

Omaha—Morrie Schaefer, welterweight, will be unable to fight Rocky Smith in Chicago, due to an infection which doctors said resembled "trench mouth."

VILLA SMART BOXER
Bud Taylor, mid-western bantamweight, says Pancho Villa, flyweight champion, is the smartest boxer he ever faced. "Villa is always trying to outfigure you and usually he does," says Taylor.

New York—Pancho Villa, world's flyweight champion, knocked out Harry Catena, in the fifth round of a scheduled 12 round bout.

Sheboygan	6	2	.750
Neenah-Menasha	6	2	.750
APPLETON	4	4	.500
Oshkosh	4	4	.500
Green Bay	4	4	.500
Fond du Lac	2	8	.250
Kaukauna	1	6	.143

FRIDAY'S SCHEDULE
Appleton at Fond du Lac.
Sheboygan at Menasha.
Oshkosh at Kaukauna.

The Fond du Lac baseball team which slipped a notch closer to the cellar by losing to Menasha last Sunday, will try to redeem itself by taking one or two jumps up the ladder in the Wisconsin State league pennant climb this weekend. On July 4 they will play Appleton at Fond du Lac and on Sunday they will go to Sheboygan. They will find both Appleton and Sheboygan two hard nuts to crack.

The Cardinals are confident of victory because of their win over Green Bay two weeks ago and the Sox's victory over Appleton last Sunday. Since Appleton beat the Red Sox in the opening game here several weeks ago, the down state team has been strengthened considerably. Bullet Jones is doing good work and is expected to hold his own against Marty Lampers who is scheduled to do the tossing for the Papermakers.

Another game that will be worth seeing on the Fourth of July is the contest between Menasha and Sheboygan at the Fall City. The teams have been running a nip and tuck race all season, but both are due for showdown Friday, and the tie for first place will be broken. Oshkosh and Kaukauna will clash at the Electric City and Green Bay will tie idle.

FOX RIVER TO MEET MANITOWOC FRIDAY

Local Factory Team Hopes to Down Shipbuilders at Brandt Park

The Fourth of July will be a quiet day in Appleton, since there will be no celebration here, but sport fans will have an opportunity to see two good independent teams in action on that day in Brandt park, when the Fox River Paper company of Appleton and the Manitowoc Shipbuilders cross bats. The game will start at 2:45.

Manitowoc showed its caliber last Sunday by beating the strong McMullen team at Oshkosh 5 to 3. They have a clever slab artist in the person of Murphy. Tomorrow will oppose him on the mound and Last will be at the receiving end.

Fox River is confident of victory, because it has strengthened its lineup considerably by the addition of an entirely new outfield. Furringer played on the college team at Worcester, Mass., and will occupy center field. Radke, a home town player, will be in left field and Dunham, Lawrence college man, will take right field. All of them are handy with the stick.

WILLS GETS CHANCE AT TENNIS TITLE

By Associated Press
Wimbledon, Eng.—Helen Wills has earned the right to enter the finals of the great Wimbledon tournament, which formerly decided the lawn tennis championships of the world, but she fails to find Suzanne Lenglen waiting her as was expected, the French star having withdrawn because of illness. Instead the American champion Friday will face Miss Kathleen McKane, ranking British woman, in the fight for supreme honors.

Miss Wills won her way to the coveted position by a series of victories over some of England's leading players, the last one Mrs. Phyllis Satterthwaite, whom she defeated Thursday in straight sets and without great difficulty at 6-2, 6-1. The American girl is showing greatly improved form over that displayed on her first appearance here in the international women's team matches, and is expected to give a better account of herself against Miss McKane than on the former occasion, when the British star triumphed at 6-2, 6-2.

Some of the newspaper experts Thursday say that Miss McKane is the popular favorite for the championship but their comments on the form displayed by the American girl suggest that they more than doubt the accuracy of the popular choice. They declare Miss McKane will have to do very well indeed to come through on top Friday.

"BONUS" HEADQUARTERS

The Oney Johnston Post of the American Legion will conduct an office in the Old Commercial National Bank Bldg., corner College Ave. and Oneida St., to assist all Veterans of the World War in Making Application for THEIR "BONUS."

There will be no charge for this service—it's free to all Veterans. This office will open Sat., July 5th at 1:00 P. M. The hours daily will be from 1 to 5 and 7 to 9 in the evening.

All Veterans are urged to come in within the next two weeks and bring in their Military Discharge. If you served Overseas be sure to have the date of embarkation and date of return. It is absolutely necessary that you have your discharge.

These Office Headquarters have been turned over to the Legion, through the courtesy of Irving Zuelke.

GREB-STIRBLING BOUT CALLED OFF

Mayor Says Smallpox Quarantine Prompted Him to Order Battle Off

By Associated Press
Michigan City, Ind.—Boxing contests between Harry Greb world's middleweight champion and Young Stribling, Macon, Ga. lightweight, and Abe Goldstein, world's bantamweight titlist and Connie Curry of Sioux City Iowa scheduled for Friday in the blue sky arena here have been indefinitely postponed by order of Mayor W. F. C. Dall.

A small pox quarantine in Michigan was given by the mayor as the reason for requesting the postponement although Dr. George H. Ramsey, deputy state health commissioner in Lansing, declared that there is no quarantine in effect. One against traveling circuses and carnivals was lifted last Monday.

Intimations in Chicago that a disappointing advance sale of seats may have had something to do with the postponement were denied by Frank Parker, associated with Joe Coffey and Floyd Fitzsimmons in the promotion of the contests. Parker said he intended to try to persuade Greb and Stribling to stay in Chicago until the bout could be staged.

The promoters and principals meet Thursday to determine, when, if at all, the bout will be held.

Mayor Dall in his letter to the promoters said the contests could be held without danger in about two weeks.

Admirers of "Tony," famous Tom Mix cow pony, will be delighted with the animal's cleverness and new adroitness in "The Trouble Shooter," which started a 3 day engagement at the Elite theatre today.

Perhaps the most daring run which Tony has ever made with Tom astride his back is in the present picture wherein the famous pony travels at break-neck speed over a high railway bridge, which spans a deep chasm in the gorges of Yosemite Valley, California. The runaway over which Tony carries his master is but a foot-wide plank between the rails. Immediately behind the horse and rider thunders a big locomotive and heavy train. Tony wins by less than a couple of seconds. The distance covered is approximately half a mile. A slip would throw horse and rider over the unguarded edge of the bridge to the gorge below, a sheer drop of five hundred feet.

DO YOU KNOW Baseball?

by Dilly Evans

1. Runners are on third and second; one man is out; batter hits fly to deep left; runner on third tags up and scores legitimately after the catch; the runner on second thinking the catch impossible left with the crack of the bat; the ball is returned to the infield and put on second base, retiring the runner who had ventured off and thereby retiring the side. Does the run count? (Runner of course tallied before the third out.)—C. P.
2. How high in the air must foul ball go in order to retire batsman?—J. M.
3. What is world's record for throwing a baseball?—J. L.
4. How must a runner turn after reaching first, provided he does not attempt to go to second?—K. W.

ANSWERS

1. The run counts since player crossed plate before third out, same not being a forced out.
2. There is no set distance. The batsman is out on any foul caught, other than a direct tip from bat.
3. On Oct. 12, 1910, at Cincinnati, Sheldon Lejeune threw a ball 426 feet 9 3/4 inches.
4. Runner can turn in either direction, right or left, provided he makes no attempt to go to second.

FEATURE ATHLETICS AT CAMP DOUGLAS

Special Emphasis Will Be Placed on Training Guard Recruits

Athletics will be a big feature at Camp Douglas this year when Co. D of the Wisconsin National Guard is in camp from July 13 to 26. Information sent to the company officers details the plan of having all military practice with the exception of schools and ceremonies in the morning so that the afternoons may be devoted to recreation and sports.

An athletic officer of each regiment will arrange contests to determine the regimental championships. The winners from each regiment will compete in the 64th brigade field day.

Your Pain May Be Neuritis

Many sufferers who are treating for rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago or sciatica are really afflicted with neuritis. This disease of the nerves causes pains, aches, and soreness in different parts of the body, just like the ailments mentioned above.

The most common sources of neuritis are colds, injuries, bruises, infectious diseases or a rundown nervous system. Long-standing cases of rheumatism or sciatica frequently attack the nerves, setting up inflammation and producing neuritis. No matter what its origin, neuritis is always accompanied by sharp, piercing pain, usually in the shoulder, forearm, neck, thigh, leg or back.

Don't bother with medicines that relieve for today only. Assist Nature to remove the causes of inflammation and pain by taking Epsa Neuritis Tablets—a scientific treatment that has often brought lasting relief after other methods failed. Price $1.00. # COURT PROTECTS WIFE FROM HARM

Elias Skenandore Is Placed Under Peace Bond After Making Threats

Oneda—Elias Skenandore has been placed under peace bonds until his case will be called in Green Bay, for threatening to harm his wife. Nothing more formidable than a slingshot was found when he was searched for weapons.

Jacob Webster was charged with being drunk and disorderly on the circus grounds in Green Bay and sentenced to five days in jail.

Robert Amundson, of Appleton, county agent, visited the pig club members here and looked over their pigs Monday. There are 150 members in the county, Oneda having the largest local membership. Loretta Cornelius is the president of the club here and Alma Cornelius is the secretary-treasurer.

Isaac Powlas has moved his family back to Oneda after spending the last year in Neenah. He is now living with his mother-in-law, Mrs. Hattie Smith.

Anton Newhouse, William B. Metoxen and Emanuel Skenandore purchased cars last week.

Daughters have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Milton Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mullen and Mr. and Mrs. John Katers during the last week.

Herbert Cornelius gave a strawberry short-cake party to about 30 friends Friday evening of last week. Ice cream was also served after playing games and singing.

Miss Alma Cornelius is spending the week with her aunt, Mrs. Preston Mann, DePere.

J. W. Cornelius' car skidded into a ditch while returning from Seymour Saturday afternoon of last week and tipped partly over. The outer bank of the ditch prevented it from going entirely over. Those occupying the car were not hurt and the car was not damaged.

Ell Skenandore and family have gone to New York for a few weeks. Mr. Skenandore, who is chairman of the Indian committee working for the Six Nation land claim, reports everything is coming out all right and letters published by Indian agents against their work are not true.

URGE CITIES TO ADOPT HOME RULE

By Associated Press

MADISON—Wisconsin cities and villages are urged to go on record as favoring the "home rule" amendment to the state constitution in communications sent throughout the state by Ford H. MacGregor, secretary of the Wisconsin League of Municipalities.

An explanation of the home rule amendment and suggested resolutions for passage by the city council is made by Mr. MacGregor.

"The home rule amendment is intended to give cities and villages greater powers of local self-government," the state secretary declares. "The amendment will give municipalities power to draft and adopt amendments to their own charters without having to go to the legislature to get the general charter law amended. At every session of the legislature there are 200 or more bills introduced affecting villages and cities. This amendment would avoid the necessity of a great number of these bills."

Playing For Profit

Real money in sports—And we don't have to be professionals to get some of it. Are folks who play golf worth more to themselves and to their employers than those who don't? Any way there's that famed Knight of the Niblick who says they are — "puts" the difference at $500.

So it is with living—those who like to live well and not always buy something because it is a few cents cheaper, usually find they have saved enough to enjoy most of the good things of life.

Captions That Capture

Thanks to the captions that head the different groups of opportunities in the Post-Crescent A-B-C Classified Section, you don't have to read the whole section to find some specific opportunity.

These captions will capture your attention immediately and enable you to capture your own little opportunity instantly.

But, as the saying goes, "We haven't said the half of it yet."

The captions which designate the main groups are amplified by sub-captions which in turn include a large number of smaller captions known as index terms.

As soon as you notice that captions, sub-captions and index terms are all alphabetically arranged in numerical classifications-you will realize the pains we have gone to in order to assure the reader convenience.

If the A-B-C Classified Section isn't worth your daily attention-nothing is!
